COVID Update

While covid is getting better with cases down and less severe illness, we want to remind everyone of our policies. With severity, strains, number of cases, new data/information, etc. constantly changing we reserve the right to change our policies at any time. Please be aware our policies will not necessarily be the same as what you might find on the internet. Child Cares have their own contacts for cases and policies and are specific to each center based on many factors such as number of cases, strains, data, etc. Our top priority is the safety of everyone at our center including, children, families, and staff. Thank you to our families for your support and understanding!
